The John & Annie Glenn Museum, housed in John Glenn's boyhood home on Main Street in New Concord, Ohio, recognizes and honors the lives of the Glenns and relates the story of 20th Century America through the prism of their lives.

The Museum is operated by the Museum Association of East Muskingum, a non-profit organization, which is administered by a volunteer Board of Trustees representing the Village of New Concord, East Muskingum School District and Muskingum University. It is funded by admissions and private donations.

The John & Annie Glenn Museum has become a sense of community pride. Many local folks enjoy serving as volunteer guides while others give in many different ways. The support of the greater American community, its citizens and foundations is greatly appreciated.

ABOUT THE SITE

Although we are a popular tourist site, we are primarily an educational facility dedicated to helping children, particularly those in Appalachia, achieve their highest potential. We have developed programs for all age groups which follow Ohio educational standards.

Tours include a living history presentation on the main floor of the home. Visitors experience the "Life of an American Family during the Great Depression", or "Life on the Home Front during WWII" as they are guided by a costumed actor. For some, a visit to the John & Annie Glenn Museum is a nostalgic trip back in time, but for students it's a wonderful educational experience.

Your brick will become part of a courtyard, professionally designed and installed near the main entrance of the Historic Site.

The cost for a 4 X 8 Belden brick is $62 (in honor of John Glenn's historic flight around Earth in 1962) and includes up to 3 lines of wording and 20 characters per line (including spaces and punctuation).

All proceeds will support the educational mission of the John & Annie Glenn Museum.
